Personal Information Digest

What is a personal information digest?

A personal information digest is a document that summarises in general terms the kinds of information held by an agency and how this information is managed by the agency. It assists individuals in finding out what kinds of information an agency holds about them, why this information is held, how this information is held and how this information is managed by the agency.

The Ipswich City Council ('council', 'we', 'us' or 'our') has produced this personal information digest to inform members of the public about council's information management practices. This document is to be read in conjunction with council's Privacy Statement and any applicable information collection notices.

In this personal information digest, any reference to 'information' includes a reference to personal information as that term is defined in the Information Privacy Act 2009 (Qld) and other information in relation to businesses and other persons.

Council management of personal information

The various Departments and Branches of council collect, use, store and disclose information as required and authorised by law, including the legislation listed in this Digest and other council protocols and codes of practice.

The information usually collected by council includes names, addresses, phone numbers, dates of birth, age and gender information, car registration and driver's licence details, email addresses, Tax File Numbers, Medicare numbers, customer or account numbers assigned to individuals by council, employment details, Centrelink reference numbers, Australian Business Numbers (ABN) and photographs or video of individuals.

Certain Departments or Branches of council may also collect additional information. Further detail on what this additional information may include is specified under the heading of the relevant Department or Branch.

Council Departments and/or Branches generally collect and/or disclose information to external sources and within the organisation as required or authorised by law. Any additional and specific methods of collecting or disclosing information by certain council Departments and/or Branches are specified under the heading of the relevant Departments or Branches.

The information that council collects is generally stored in council databases and hardcopy, as well as on servers, computers, external hard drives and mobile devices. Any additional methods of information storage are specified under the heading of the relevant Department or Branch that utilises such methods. We take precautions to protect personal information against loss and unauthorised access, use, modification, disclosure or other forms of misuse.

As a general rule, we use and/or disclose information in order to perform council functions and activities, to provide services requested by individuals and to comply with our legal and legislative obligations. Any specific purpose for information sharing is specified under the heading of the relevant Department or Branch that undertakes such uses. Information sharing can support and assist council and external agencies to work collaboratively to fulfil its obligations under the Local Government Act 2009.

Council is permitted to disclose information if required or authorised to do so by law and also in a range of circumstances including (but not limited to) where a person has self-published their information, where there has been express or implied consent or where disclosure is necessary for council to perform its functions, duties and activities under the Local Government Act 2009.

As a general rule, information is collected and/or disclosed by telephone, standard council forms, mail and facsimile, council meeting notes and records, marketing material, email, the internet, video or still cameras, digital recording devices and face-to-face contact. Any specific persons or entities to which information is disclosed are set out under the heading of the relevant Departments or Branches.

1. Infrastructure and Environment Department

The Asset and Infrastructure Services Department (AIS) manages council's roads and transport, buildings and facilities, drainage and flood mitigation, parks and open space.

We are focused on planning, delivering and maintaining key infrastructure to cater for Ipswich's current and ever-growing population.

Our capital and operational works reflect the community vision and priorities, ensuring we deliver a safe, inclusive and connected community that keeps our city running. We enhance the quality of life for the community through the provision and management of $3.4b worth of infrastructure.

Infrastructure Strategy Branch

The Infrastructure Strategy Branch is responsible for the strategic planning associated with council's infrastructure in the areas of transport, hydraulics, facilities and open space. The Branch plays a critical role in policy development which supports council's infrastructure investment frameworks and the annual development of the 3-year capital works program. In addition, it operates and manages the traffic network, traffic signals, intelligent transport systems and the drainage network.

Works and Field Services Branch

The Works and Field Services Branch provides management, maintenance and operational services and activities to the whole Department asset base (including roads, traffic signals, streetlights, drainage, parks, reserves, sporting areas, aquatic facilities, urban forest, conservation, corporate buildings and depots and former landfill). This Branch also plays an important role in delivering the capital works program taking formal responsibility for the Procurement Plan phase through to closure. This Branch is also responsible for the internal provision and management of all fleet and associated services to council and works closely with all Branches.

In addition to the information usually collected by council, the Branch also collects other information relevant to undertaking the activities of the Branch. This includes company business details, financial details, résumés of contractor staff, Building Services Authority license details, insurance information and information relating to membership of professional or trade associations. This information is generally only collected in circumstances where the individual's consent has been obtained and is only used by the Branch for the purposes of entering contracts for the supply of goods and services.

The Branch uses information for the purposes of ensuring contractors comply with legislative requirements including Workplace Health and Safety requirements; attending to customer service requests; arranging permits for events; managing the traffic operations within the Ipswich local government area; maintaining road and storm water infrastructure to meet the current and future needs of the local government area; undertake maintenance and aesthetic works for Department of Transport and Main Roads on State transport infrastructure; processing of road closure/opening applications; contacting fleet customers; issuing and management of infringement notices; and determining eligibility to operate council vehicles.

This Branch exchanges information internally with other parts of council and may disclose information externally (for example, to Queensland Police Service, local authorities and road toll companies).

The following are the specific pieces of legislation that require or authorise this Branch to manage information as described above:

- Building and Construction Industry (Portable Long Service Leave) Act 1991
- Building and Construction Industry Payments Act 2004
- Environmental Protection Act 1994
- Industrial Relations Act 1999
- Local Government Act 2009
- Local Law No. 7 (Local Government Controlled Areas or Roads)
- Sustainable Planning Act 2009
- Transport Operations (Road Use Management) Act 1995
- Work Health and Safety Act 2011.

Capital Delivery Branch

The Capital Delivery Branch provides survey, design, planning and construction services to the Department and broader council.

This Branch plays an important role in delivering the capital works program, having responsibility for the phases of design and construction through to handover for capitalising of the assets.

In addition to the information usually collected by council, the Branch also collects other information relevant to undertaking the activities of the Branch. This includes company business details, financial details, résumés of contractor staff, Building Services Authority license details, insurance information and information relating to membership of professional or trade associations. This information is generally only collected in circumstances where the individual's consent has been obtained and is only used by the Branch for the purposes of entering contracts for the supply of goods and services.

The Branch uses information for the purpose of community consultation; stakeholder engagement for projects directly or indirectly impacting residents; property information for design and land acquisitions and ensuring contractors comply with legislative requirements including Workplace Health and Safety requirements.

This Branch may practice internal information sharing and may disclose information externally where required by law (for example to consultants who undertake projects on behalf of council for planning purposes or so community consultation or program coordination can occur). Unless required by law, this information is generally only shared in circumstances where there is party awareness and consent has been obtained.

The following are the specific pieces of legislation that require or authorise this Branch to manage information as described above:

- Building and Construction Industry (Portable Long Service Leave) Act 1991
- Building and Construction Industry Payments Act 2004
- Environmental Protection Act 1994
- Industrial Relations Act 1999
- Local Government Act 2009
- Local Law No. 7 (Local Government Controlled Areas or Roads)

- Transport Operations (Road Use Management) Act 1995.

Asset Services Branch

The Asset Services Branch are responsible for conducting field investigations and assessments of council's infrastructure assets and providing technical advice to internal and external stakeholders. The Branch coordinates the renewal and rehabilitation planning of assets through the evaluation of regular condition assessments and updating of asset management plans. In addition, the team is responsible for developing various capital rehabilitation programs as part of council's overall capital works program.

Council infrastructure managed by Asset Management include the following key asset class groupings:

- roads and transport
- parks and reserves
- drainage and flood mitigation
- buildings and facilities.

A key accountability of the Branch is to drive Asset Management maturity across the organisation through transformational projects such as the Effective Asset Management project.

The Branch is also responsible for providing advice on and ensuring the optimal delivery, maintenance and support of council's assets using spatial and information systems. They investigate and facilitate the provision of geospatial and asset information repositories to support complex business analysis and reporting requirements. The information held and used by Asset Services assists in the delivery, maintenance and support of council's assets throughout their lifecycles. Information is restricted and only the required information is disclosed directly to external consultants involved in the planning and management of assets and datasets or as required by law.

Ipswich.qld.gov.au

The Asset Services Branch also enhances governance, compliance, transparency and operational efficiency through cost administration, operational contract management and support services to the AIS Department. In addition, they provide purchase card payment processing and costing, effective budget management, process improvement initiatives and efficient supplier payments by providing quality, accurate costing data.

2. Corporate Services Department

The Corporate Services Department assists council across a wide range of areas to ensure its outcomes are met, particularly in relation to expenditure and financial management. The Department also manages the rules, relationships, policies, systems and processes within council, ensuring compliance is exercised and maintained.

Finance Branch

The role of the Finance Branch is to provide accounting, financial and business analysis functions and services to support the business and legislative requirements of council.

In addition to the information collected by council, the Branch also collects information relating to bank accounts, addresses, membership of professional or trade associations and ABN numbers.

The Branch uses this information to:

- undertake rating modelling and analysis
- Fringe Benefit Tax (FBT) returns for employees
- undertake vendor verification
- undertake fraud detection and prevention.

The Branch may exchange information internally with other parts of council and may disclose information externally (for example, to the other government agencies such as the Australian Taxation Office as well as third-party services providers such as RP Data). Where possible, data is de-identified before being disclosed externally.

Where your rates account becomes overdue, Ipswich City Council may contact other interested parties (as defined in Schedule 8 of the Local Government Regulation 2012).

The following specific pieces of legislation which require or authorise this Branch to manage information as described above:

- Local Government Act 2009
- Local Government Regulation 2012
- Taxation Administration Act 1953.

Information, Communication and Technology Branch

The Information, Communication and Technology (ICT) Branch is responsible for the strategic planning, implementation and coordination of ICT services, (i.e. ICT investments, projects, operations, hardware and systems) across council.

It is the role of the Branch to manage the storage and security of information and data collected by council Departments. The Branch works closely with its business stakeholders and Information Managers across council to achieve this.

The information that the ICT Branch collects relevant to undertaking the activities as an internal service to council includes:

- employee information captured for carrying out service desk requests and business engagement activities
- external supplier and contractor (party) information relating to managing ICT contracts
- data collected in accordance with council's Free Wi-Fi Policy.

This information is only collected in circumstances where there is party awareness and consent has been obtained. At times it is necessary to disclose employee information to contractors to carry out their contractual duties. In these circumstances, it is council's standard practice to contractually require that sensitive and personal information is protected.

This Branch may practice internal information sharing and may disclose information externally (for example to external service providers and government bodies) in accordance with council's Privacy Statement. Unless required by law, this information is generally only shared in circumstances where there is party awareness and consent has been obtained.
